A Household Jewel. A family in the southern part of the city employed what they believed to be For a few days "household jewel." she proved to be all that they had an ticipated, and everything went smooth-One day, however, the husband came down to breakfast and made the announcement that they must get rid of the new girl. "Why, John, you must be crazy!" said his wife with amazement. "She's the best girl we ever had, so respectful and "That makes no difference. She isn't honest."

"Oh, well, we'll never miss a loaf of bread once in awhile. Her folks may need it more than we do."

"That isn't it. Early this morning I saw her creep into our room, go to my pocket, take my pocketbook and empty

"Oh, well, dear, perhaps it's force of habit; you know she's been married."— Thiladeiphia Ledger.

The First Automobile.

In these days of fast motoring and high railway speeds it is interesting to recall that it was in July, 1820, some little time before George Stephenson had solved the problem of steam transport, that Sir Goldsworthy Gurney made his famous journey in a "steam carriage" from London to Bath and back. Gurney was a surgeon in Mary-lebone, greatly given to the working out of inventions in his spare time, and it took him some years to complete his first "motor" in his back yard in Alhany street in London. He accomplished the journey to and from Bath at the rate of fifteen miles an hour, and there was only one disturbing incident, when a crowd assembled at Melksham set upon the machine and, having burned their fingers, threw stones and seriouslocomotion by steam in England.

They Paid the Price. The corporation of the city of Glas-gow wanted to purchase the Whistler portrait of Carlyle and in due course of making enemies about the price (1,000 guineas). They admitted it was a magnificent picture, but "Lo you not think, Mr. Whistler, the sum a wee, wee bit excessive?"

"Didn't you know the price before you came to me?" asked the master with suspicious blandness.

"Oh, aye, we knew that!" replied the Very well, then," said Mr. Whistler In his sunvest tones, "let's talk of something else." And as there was nothing else of interest to detain the "corporation" they paid the price and— trust a Glaswegian—made an excellent Corrosive Ink.

With an impatient grunt the bookkeeper threw away his pen and put a new one in the holder. "It's terrible," he said, "how ink corrodes pens. In six or seven hours a new pen will begin to scratch. It keeps me busy changing the blamed things, let alone the expense. There's money in it for the man who will invent a noncorrosive ink." An old man, a bill collector, re-marked to him: "My young friend, I'll tell you a sure way to stop your ink from corroding your pen. Take a few rusty iron nails and put them in your ink well. The ink's corresive acid will play itself out on the nails, and in consequence your pen will escape. A pen that only lasts you a day now should, with my method, last at least a week." -Philadelphia Record.

Cities and communities frequently expend large sums of money in enter-taining conventions, conferences and other public gatherings, both because through a sinister desire to "advertise prompt attention. the city." After the affair is over and the visitors have gone their several ways the people ask one of the other, "Does it pay to spend money thus?" There never was a case of public hos pitality that didn't pay, if not in dollars and cents, in the extension and broadening of that finest of all sentiments, the brotherhood of man.-Dayton Herakl.

Potent Pill Pleasure.

Potent Pill Pieasure.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot of Albany, Ga., says: "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was, it did me more good than calomel, blue mass or any other pills I ever took, and at the same time it effected me pleasantly. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Mrs. Fred Unrath,

"I am pleased to give my experience with Wine of Cardui as I am very grateful for its help. After my first baby was born I could not baby was born I could not seem to regain my strength, although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband came home one evening with some Wine of Cardui and insisted that I take it for a week and see what it would do for me. As he seemed to have so much faith in it I did take the imedicine and was very grateful to find hers, as are their ambitions hers, as are their ambitions, triumphs and defeats. Healthy women do not suffer miscarriage nor does a woman who is healthy suffer tostures at childbirth. It is the woman who is alling—who has female weakness—who fears the ordeal of becoming a mother. Wine of Cardui builds up the womanly in a woman. It stops d Unrath of Carden builds up the wo-manly in a woman. It stops all unnatural drains and strains—irregularities which are re-sponsible for barrenness and miscarsponsible for barrenness and miscarriage. It makes a woman strong and healthy and able to pass through pregnancy and childbirth with little suffering. After the ordeal is passed the Wine prepares a woman for a speedy recovery to health and activity. imedicine and was very grateful to find my strength slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui, in re-inforcing the Wine of Cardui, in re-inforcing the organs of generation, has made mothers of women who had given up hope of ever becoming mothers. Wine of Cardui will cure almost any case of barrenness except cases of organic trouble. How can you refuse to take such a remedy that promises such relief from suffering? Wine of Cardui simply makes you a strong woman, and strong, healthy OTHERHOOD is the noblest duty and highest privilege women can achieve or aspire to. Without this privilege women do not get all there is in life—too often they go through the world discontented, wrapped up in their own selfish cares and troubles. How different is the happy mother, watching her children grow into manhood and womanhood. A mother lives as many lives as she has children—their joys and sorrows are
